Re: Briefing Memos on Vatican Events

Thanks [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy]

Good news about Archbishop Gallagher! Too bad about Archbishop Sorondo. Looks like we will need to try to get the Air filtration tour back on for the 10-12 slot.

Also, with Ryan Jackson back on the mission, he would definitely attend the Gallagher meeting with the Administrator and Jane Nishida. Can we squeeze in Dravis too since she will be there for the private mass and the private tours?

This time should work well, as the Charge and I can meet the Administrator after mass and proceed to the Apostolic Palace for the meeting together. Besides the Administrator, both Nishida and Dravis are planning to attend the meeting, correct?

She will be able to confirm either way by Tuesday. In the meantime, I can see if it's still possible to arrange the air filtration tour, unless there's something else you would like to use the 10:00 - 12:00 slot for? Since the Administrator already has four other Vatican tours arranged and the next event is the judicial round table, perhaps we could use that time to help Embassy Rome fit in one of their events?

will be used to accomodate the other meetings. If we have roughly 8:30 - 11:30am free that morning, we should be able to comfortably pull off two meetings at the Vatican. I will check with Archbishop Sorondo's staff tomorrow morning on his availability, and hope to hear back from the Secretariat of State as well.

> Mark and Anna - just wanted to clarify that if we hope to have the judicial roundtable from 12-1pm on Friday, it is probably best to plan for just two Vatican activities that morning. For example, we could arrange the tour of the air filtration system and solar panels and also the meeting at the secretariat of state, but it might be hard to also fit in a meeting with Archbishop Sorondo. In that case, would you prefer to just do the tour and secretariat of state meeting?

> A quick update from the Vatican side: We are set for the air filtration / solar panels tour with the Vatican's Chief Engineer and the meeting with the Secretariat of State. However, since Cardinal Turkson is out of town those days, we have two possible alternatives for a third meeting on the morning of June 7:

> One option would be to meet with Turkson's deputies in the Dicastery for Integral Human Development, Dr. Flaminia Giovenelli and Dr. Tebaldo Vinciguerra (who played a large role in drafting Laudato Si and met former EPA Administrator McCarthy during her visit); or alternatively our Charge suggested he could meet with Bishop Sanchez Sorondo of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences, who hosts conferences at the Vatican on a wide variety of scientific and environmental issues (bio attached). Giovenelli and Vinciguerra could be more substantive, but Bishop Sorondo is higher ranking. Let me know what you prefer.

> Another important update for you - since the other Vatican tours and masses are personal in nature and privately arranged, our Charge has decided that we will not accompany for that portion of the schedule. So the Charge and I will be with you just for the morning of June 7th during the official meetings.
